Diceware Reference

EFF Large Wordlist - 7776 words

About the source
The EFF Large Wordlist is the official English diceware list published by the Electronic Frontier Foundation (2016). 7776 words, one per 5-dice roll (CC BY).

SelfRecover
SelfRecover is sovereign account recovery - no email, no SMS (free software, AGPL-3.0). This word table builds the passphrase that guards your recovery.

The Reinhold method (diceware)

Diceware was invented by Arnold G. Reinhold in 1995 to generate passphrases with measurable, high entropy using physical dice - no computer required.

1. Get 5 six-sided dice (or roll one die 5 times).
2. Roll them and read the digits left to right, e.g. 32145.
3. Look up the code in the table: 32145 gives one exact word.
4. Repeat for each word. Official recommendation: 6 words minimum.
5. Write the passphrase on paper, store it safely. NEVER type it into any computer to 'check' it - use the offline tool below.

> Check a passphrase offline
> Self-contained tool, zero network. Save it, go airgapped, verify:
> tools/offline-validator/index.html

Recommended number of words

| Words | Entropy | Use case |
|---|---|---|
| 4 | 51.7 bits | too short for SelfRecover |
| 5 | 64.6 bits | too short for SelfRecover |
| 6 | 77.5 bits | SELFRECOVER MINIMUM |
| 7 | 90.5 bits | sensitive secrets |
| 8 | 103.4 bits | root / master key |
