

EFF Large Wordlist

Diceware reference for cryptographic passphrases

Source: EFF Large Wordlist (Creative Commons BY 3.0) - <https://eff.org/dice>

The EFF Large Wordlist is the official English diceware list published by the Electronic Frontier Foundation (2016). 7776 words, one per 5-dice roll.

Langue : English - Version 0.3.0 - 03/07/2026

The Reinhold method (diceware)

Diceware was invented by Arnold G. Reinhold in 1995 to generate passphrases with measurable, high entropy using only physical dice - no computer required.

1. Get 5 six-sided dice (or roll one die 5 times).
2. Roll them and read the digits left to right, e.g. 32145.
3. Look up the code in the table below: 32145 -> one exact word.
4. Repeat for each word. Official recommendation: 6 words minimum.
5. Write the passphrase on paper, store it safely. NEVER type it into any computer to 'check' it - use the offline HTML tool shipped with SelfRecover.

Recommended number of words

Words	Entropy	Use case
4	51.7 bits	demo / low stakes
5	64.6 bits	everyday accounts
6	77.5 bits	RECOMMENDED
7	90.5 bits	sensitive secrets
8	103.4 bits	root / master key
